PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Let me begin with some housekeeping. I want to thank our Treasurer, Bill Stratemeyer, for working through major issues with both our 501C3 status and our taxes. Bill had the unenviable job of trying to get our tax-exempt status reestablished and filing our subsequent taxes. This was like an extreme case of herding cats. Bill showed remarkable patience and fortitude. He was thrown so many curves as he tried to navigate the unbelievable government bureaucracy involved with these actions. He would go online and get so far only to have to contact someone who gave him direction which usually resulted in more issues and more direction - - often contradictory! Needless to say, Bill deserves a huge "Thank You" for going way above and beyond the normal work associated with the Treasurer position. Please make sure you tell Bill how much we appreciate his tireless work and dedication. Thanks so much Bill !!!!!

We just had our May Swap Meet. It was a success even though we did not have our best attendance. I believe all who participated were pleased with the results. Most folks picked up some items for their collections and managed to move some of their duplicate material and we got to talk a good bit about our hobby. Just yesterday, Bill Stratemeyer sent out about 25 reminder postcards to those who have not yet paid their 2016 dues. If you receive a card, please send in your dues as we want to retain all our members. At our last meeting at the Whitman show, we were very pleased that Ms. Kim Kiick, Executive Director of the American Numismatic Association (ANA), could join us. Unfortunately, also at this meeting, one of our good members who has been with us for many years decided not to renew his membership. His stated reason was that our meetings did not offer enough presentations on hobby related topics. I do not disagree that we now have very few of these presentations; however, I do not apologize for this trend. As president, I cannot and will not do everything. Several times, I have mentioned to our membership that if they want presentations at a meeting or if they want to have a meeting at a historical location, then I need somebody to step up and chair this effort or just set up one presentation or plan that meeting. Very few folks have taken up this banner. In the past, several folks have set up meetings at Historical Societies or historic locations but not much has happened recently. We are a team and we really need a team effort to keep our society healthy and interesting.

On a very positive note, the Maryland Token and Medal Society was approached with an offer to have our archive of Maryland Token and Medal Society Journals put online. You may have seen in the ANA Numismatist or the Esylum that there is a major effort within the numismatic community sponsored by the Eric Newman foundation to make such historical information accessible online. "The Newman Numismatic Portal is located at Washington University in St. Louis and principally funded by the Eric P. Newman Numismatic Educational Society. The NNP is dedicated to becoming the primary and most comprehensive resource for numismatic research and reference material, initially concentrating on U.S. Coinage and Currency." This quote is from the Newman folks. It may take a few months to get this done but I believe that MD TAMS and our hobby will greatly benefit. The decision to follow through on this offer was made after discussion among the MD TAMS Officers and Directors. We will share more information as soon as we get same on how to access our Journals online.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Long time Maryland Token and Medal Society member Jane Sears has offered her book, LUCKY BUCKS, and other Comic Play Money from the Depression era Newspapers 1932-1943. The book retails for $59.95 on AMAZON.

If anyone would like a copy- Call Jane Sears at 410-668-8538, she can bring the number of copies needed to our July Annual Meeting. The cost in person is $40.00

LUCKY BUCKS

Let me introduce you to "Lucky Bucks" play money. The Great Depression of the 1930's inspired E. C. Segar, Popeye's creator to invent "Lucky Bucks" play money. Money was scare and children's toys were not in the family budget. The Sunday newspaper looked out for the children of that day. In the colored Sunday section they featured paper dolls, comic trading stamps and "Lucky Bucks" comic play money. Children were encouraged to cut out, collect and use them in their playful activities. The newspaper used comic characters to show the kids playing store, at side shows and at their neighbor circus.

NOTES FROM THE EASTERN SHORE

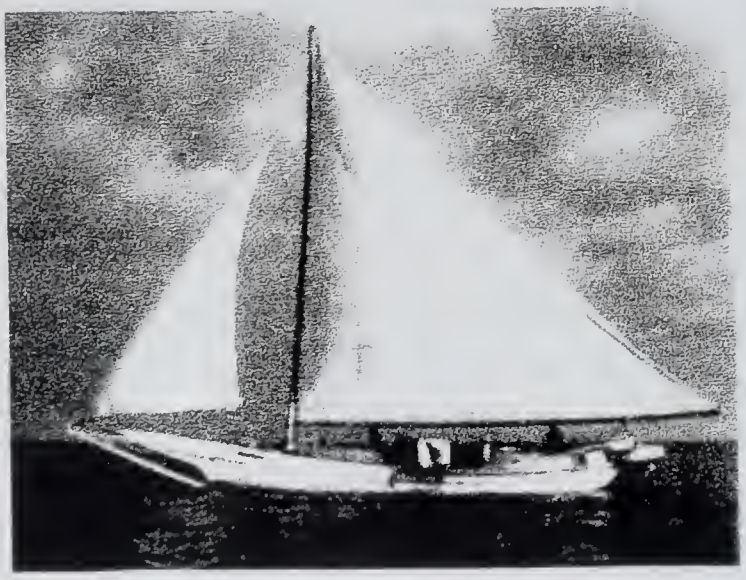
Bill Miller R-109

Recently I attended a coin show & purchased a small bag of (mostly) initial tokens from a dealer. Almost all of the tokens in the bag have been attributed to Maryland. In the bag was one very interesting token. It is all incuse, brass and about 23mm. The obverse says: H.M.R & Co. and shows a sailboat (skipjack?) in the center. The reverse shows the same sailboat. I immediately thought that it might be an oyster packer token, so I went to Jane Sear' wonderful book, BALTIMORE'S PACKING & CANNING INDUSTRY. A cursory look in the Baltimore Directory section turned up H.M. Rowe & Co., an oyster packing listed from 1868-1888.

It is dangerous to arbitrarily match initials on a token to a listing, but it is very possible that the H.M.R. & Co. token could be an oyster packing token used by Rowe & Co.

It would be interesting to know if any other collectors have similar tokens with the sailboat device with the same or different initials. Even though it is not definitive proof, it is a possibility that this was yet another style of token used in Baltimore in the 19th century.

Thanks go out to Jane for her tireless research! Everyone needs this excellent book in their reference library!



VOL43 NO.2 WHOILE NO. 148 MD.TAMS 5

The skipjack was designated the official state boat of Maryland in 1985.

The skipjack originated on Maryland's Eastern Shore in the 1890s. At that time it was better known as a small "two-sail bateau" with a V-hull. The craft evolved into the larger skipjack. Ranging in length from 25 to 50 feet, the hearty skipjack is known for speed and is powerful in light winds. Skipjacks have a shallow draft with a centerboard and carry a single mast, two-sail sloop rig. The remaining Chesapeake Bay Skipjack Fleet has been recognized as a national treasure in danger of extinction.

Skipjacks are the last working boats under sail in the United States. In winter, fleets of skipjacks used to dredge oysters from the floor of Chesapeake Bay. "Drudgin," as watermen called this process, was hard, cold, dirty, sometimes dangerous work. There are but a very few working skipjacks left.

Star Spangled Banner Celebration - 1914
Gold Rowing Award

Russ Sears

The 200th anniversary of the Battle of Baltimore and the Star Spangled Banner was quite a celebration just a short time ago. The 100th anniversary in 1914 was a big event, perhaps a lot bigger than the 2014 event.

There were many events in 1914 to celebrate. We have seen numerous items observing the event. Recently, we acquired a piece we had never seen. It is a 10K gold medal, about 9.1dwt and about 33mm across. Featuring the Hans Schuler designed symbol of the celebration, the medal was awarded to William E. Boryer who was a member of the Analostan Boat Club rowing team in the Intermediate 8 Oared Shell competition.

The rowing event sponsored by the Middle States Regatta Association was held in Baltimore's Middle Branch at the Ferry Bar on September 7, 1914. The Analostan Boat Club team completed the one mile event in 5 minutes and one half second.

Shortly after the Civil War, numerous rowing organizations began in the Washington, D. C. area. The Analostan Boat Club was founded in 1866. It was located on Analostan Island (now Roosevelt Island) on the Anacosta River.

Our research failed to find very much information about William E. Boryer. In addition to his participation on the rowing team, he was elected captain of the Analostan Boat Club in 1917.

FAKES and Fantasy Tokens, Medals, Exonumia.

The following pieces have been offered on the internet or elsewhere, and are either outright FAKES or are FANTASY items.

A fake is a counterfeit, generally a cast copy of a genuine original. Some deceptive fakes of original Slave Tags have been made with new dies. It is against Federal law to make fakes or counterfeits of original items. A number of coins, tokens and medals have been faked. Some expensive coins have been faked by creating copy-dies.

A fantasy is a piece that never existed years ago and implies it is old. Most fantasy pieces sound too good to be true, and generally are! I have also listed some suspect pieces that I highly doubt are original items, but I must see to be able to determine (they are listed as doubtful). Fantasy pieces can be struck, cast or engraved. A number of fantasy pieces have been created by crooks creating a new piece from legitimate manufacturers, with good quality die work and design. Just because it looks good does not mean it is, and just because it looks shoddy it does not mean it isn't genuine!

A few years ago, I was offered fake and fantasy Slave Tags and other tokens, by the original maker! I purchased some of his modern samples, and he offered to make them to order. This maker has since made a number of cast copies and fantasy items. The federal law is very hard on fakes, but not on fantasy items, so most of his recent output appears to be fantasy items. If it is fully hand engraved, BEWARE! His products are listed here as "by Mr. X", and he is currently selling on eBay.

So, who am I to make these statements? Besides buying over 3 million tokens and medals, and being a long term Board of Governors of CSNS, TAMS, CWTS, etc., I have examined hundreds of fakes and fantasy items. Also, EACH item here has also been examined by at least two other experts. If you know of others, please let me know.

FANTASY and Fake Slave Tags:

The only genuine Slave Tags are from Charleston and Charleston Neck. All genuine Charleston Tags are struck from dies. See my more complete information on Slave Tags, with fake and fantasy pieces pictured.

Bawdy House - Whore House Tokens - FANTASY:

These cute tokens are ALL fantasy items. There NEVER were any original pieces of this style, despite the existence of a book on these (created solely to sell more tokens!). Most are silver-dollar sized, most are uniface, with incuse letters, "Good For All Night", "$3.00 Screw", etc. For a full write-up, read this. The (or possibly one of the many) manufacturers offers these on his web page.

Ku Klux Klan Items:

Recently a number of cast counterfeit tokens have appeared. Some of these are sold as fakes, some are not. For reference, see the Birdsell book on KKK Tokens. In addition, a number of knives have appeared, some listed as modern fantasies, others with minimal information.

"KKK" struck dollar-sized tokens such as "Convention of the Order May 11, 1907 Ku Klux Klan Bristol, Tenn.", are modern pieces, listed as such by Birdsell. They have been around since ca. 1975.

1865 KKK fob on Silver Half Dollar - Fully hand engraved on coin, bold "KKK" center. A recent Fantasy piece. Named to Nathan Bedford Forrest, or John B Lester.

SILVER KKK 1867 MEMBERSHIP BADGE A Fantasy piece, absolutely NO originals exist! Recently seen in quantity (1997-9). This has been seen both with stamped and engraved dates. KKK Breast Pinback Badge Engraved Date

1868 KKK MEMBER MEDAL-ALABAMA A Fantasy piece, engraved by Mr. X.

1868 Alabama Ku Klux Klan Token Another example of the same piece.

1869 Bronze Martingale KKK Grand Dragon Partially hand-engraved fantasy oval item, by Mr. X. Pic1 Pic2

1873 KKK Member Medal: Macon, GA A Fantasy piece, possibly by Mr. X. Another listing.

1896 KKK Medal: Tuscaloosa, AL A Fantasy piece, engraved by Mr. X.

1907 KKK Convention Medal, Bristol, TN A struck fantasy token, first seen maybe 20 years ago, and listed by Birdsell as a fantasty.

1916 KKK Vigilant Token Fully hand-engraved fantasy token, by Mr. X.

1923 KKK MEDAL-REALM OF MISSISSIPPI A Fantasy piece.

1946 KKK Belt Buckle A Fantasy piece, by Mr. X..

KKK Belt Buckle A Fantasy piece, by Mr. X..

KKK Knives:

A knowledgeable dealer has informed me that original KKK knives do exist. However, the vast majority of knives seen on eBay and elsewhere are modern fantasy knives (no originals). A number of obviously modern pieces have shown up recently, most identified as being new.

KKK POCKET KNIFE w/White handle Listed as new, which it is!

KKK Lockback Knife A modern fantasy knife.

KKK Invisible Empire Lockback Knife A modern fantasy knife.

KKK Taylor Cutlery 1980 Knife A modern fantasy knife.

KKK Kaufmann & Sons Knife A modern fantasy knife.

Tokens, Medals, Bars:

1893 Wells Fargo Bar A modern fantasy bar, somewhat like original silver bars, but this one is not silver.

J. Parson's & Co - Assayers Bar - 1883 A modern fantasy bar, as above

Railroad Cord-Wood Token A modern fantasy token, stamped on aluminum disk.

L.A. Stamp: ALL tokens marked such are modern fantasy items. The genuine issues of the Los Angeles Rubber Stamp Company were marked "L.A. Rub. Stamp Co.", "L.A. Rub. Stp.Co." or similar.

Central Cl.Co/Cary/Ky - Fantasy coal token. Reverse: Good For /5 cents/Trade.

G.A.R. and Civil War-Era Pieces:

Western Atlantic R.R. - Confederate States of America - Fantasy Badge.

Andersonville Prison - Confederate States - Fantasy Badge.

Southern Cross of Honor - With reverse push-pins! Modern fake.

1862 The Vietorious Confederate - M. E. Woodward 5c in trade. A fantasy trade token, struck on one side, hand engraved on the other.

Western Atlantic R.R. Badge. Neat badge, ca. 52x63mm, with old train engine to left, "Confederate States of America" below, heavy reverse pin.. A total fantasy, first seen ca. 1/99.

C.S.A. Hand-Engraved Identity Tags (Pender Disks):

Usually on the reverse of a counterfeit coin-like imitation of a silver dollar or half-dollar, "C.S.A." on bottom, name above around top. Please note comment on size on Pender disk; these are the WRONG size, and are fully counterfeit, fully made-up items, that appear to be on on US coins. There is now a booklet on these: Fake Confederate ID Disks, available for only $7/postpaid, send your check to address below. Seen to date:

Fantasy: Dorsey Pender (also said to be Dorsey Peracler): Listed as a fantasy in "The Bogus Corner", North South Trader, and in TAMS, Vol. 39, #2. On a counterfeit 1860-O silver dollar. "Lt. Col Dorsey Pender/CSA/1st North Carolina Regiment". NOTE: Closer inspection of one of these reveals the host item is a fully counterfeit piece sized between a silver dollar and half-dollar.

Fantasy: Washington: listed in a recent catalog as follows: M2131..CIVIL WAR ERA CONFEDERATE IDENTITY TAG ENGRAVED 1862 50 CENT PIECE: 30 mm diameter. silver 50 cent piece. Has hole punched at 12 o'clock on obverse & rim delicately engraved to "Lt. James B. Washington" --bold "C.S.A." at 6 o'clock. Shows wear & age--slightly cupped to the obverse side. III+.....$300.00

Fantasy: Vairin: "Vairin" listed in a recent catalog as follows: M2130..CIVIL WAR ERA CONFEDERATE IDENTITY TAG ENGRAVED 1861 50 CENT PIECE: 30 mm diameter. silver 50 cent piece w/"O" mint mark for New Orleans. Has hole punched at 12 o'clock on obverse & rim delicately engraved to man in the Mississippi volunteers --bold "C.S.A." at 6 o'clock. Shows wear & age. III+.....$300.00 Fantasy: A. L. P Vairin: Second Mississippi vol. C. S. A. Another example of the above fantasy piece, but appears to be a different specimen. Same name, same layout, different coin. Hmmm, what do you think?

Fantasy: Robert F. Bunting: 1862-S Half-Dollar, engraved "Robert F. Bunting/C.S.A./8th Texas Cavalry". Same script and style as the other fantasy pieces! Bunting was the chaplain for Terry's Texas Rangers. Two specimens seen. A third specimen reported in an antique store in Fort Collins, CO. Fourth specimen on eBay.

Fantasy: Joseph Mayo: 1860-O counterfeit silver dollar, engraved "Col. Joseph Mayo Jr. /C.S.A./3rd Va. Inf." on obv. Two different specimens seen (TAMS Vol. 39#2). Mayo was in the Virginia 3rd under General Pickett.

Fantasy: As above: Thomas Taylor, William Forrest and Nathan Boone, of the 12th Kentucky Regiment.

Civil War I.D. Tags: Memorial Brass: makes close copies of genuine tags, struck to order with your name. Could easily be confused with genuine pieces.

M.E. Woodward - The Victorious Confederate 1862. Modern fantasy piece made on reverse of old Good For 5 c In Trade token.

Fake Items

Good For 25c In Trade/Peanut Dpet./Willis & Welch, Chatanika, Alaska. Round pictorial pocket mirror. This rare mirror has been photocopied, crudely hand-tinted and put together with an old mirror. No value as a fake.

Fake and Fantasy Police Badges, Etc.

"Plantation Police Georgetown County South Carolina Runaway Slave Patrol". Obvious fantasy.

Offered as copies, but not believed to be marked as such. Lawman Badges

Another place offers fake/fantasy badges.

The Pine Ridge 7: Lawman Badges, old-west badges, police badges, spurs, carbines, revolvers, pocket pistols, bullwhips, branding irons, watch fobs, spur straps, hand cuffs, leg irons, brothel tokens, gun mounts, sword mounts, pocket knives, Police shields, Movie badges, key chains, W.W.II daggers, Nazi military daggers, miniature knives & sabers, peace pipes, restraints. Large quantity of fakes/copies.

Pieces of History Fake and fantasy old-west badges, police badges, plus lots of books on military history, and probably genuine military badges mixed in with the fakes.

The Baird Company Replica and fantasy law enforcement badges and other stuff. Sells so-called authentic badges that are total fake/fantasy pieces. Pic: Georgetown County Plantation Police 1858 Runaway Slave Patrol badge: total crap.

Historical Reproductions At least the name tells the truth.

Other Fake and Fantasy Items

The following items are known fake or fantasy items.

The late Gary Wakefield made a number of fake/fantasy items, for sale in his shop in Reno, NV. All his brass items were made in Mexico to his order:

Goldfield Hotel Spittoons and Bed Warmers: ALL are Wakefield Specials, although he sold them as reproductions out of his shop in Reno. There were NO originals, they are fantasy items.. Brass. For example: Large copper and brass pan has a long wood handle, 11" in diameter and 2" in depth . The handle is made of wood with brass accents. Written on the cover of the pan is Goldfield Hotel/ Goldfield, Nevada. pic Goldfield Hotel Oil Lamp: Burner marked Kosmos Brenner, with plate at base: Goldfield Hotel, Goldfield Nevada. Brass, about 17" tall, another type is shorter. ALL are modern fantasy pieces.

Goldfield Hotel Toilet Paper Holder: Another modern fantasy item.

Goldfield, Nevada Gans-Nelson fight programs. Sold for over $500 on eBay. Made up by Wakefield. Junk.

Goldfield Hotel Web page.

Framed so called page out of the Carson City Prison book with a dozen photos of prisoners listing what they were in for. Made up by Wakefield. Sold on eBay for over $300. More junk of zero value.

Pony Express Chewing Tobacco Cut Plug Brass Spittoon, Property of the Pony Express San Francisco Division brass spittoon, Union Pacific R.R. "Train" spitton, Redskin Brand Chewing Tobacco "Indian" spitton. All offered as fantasy pieces by A.A. Importing, ca. 1970. Others exist, all of a similar style, all are modern junk of zero value.
